

Monte Carlo

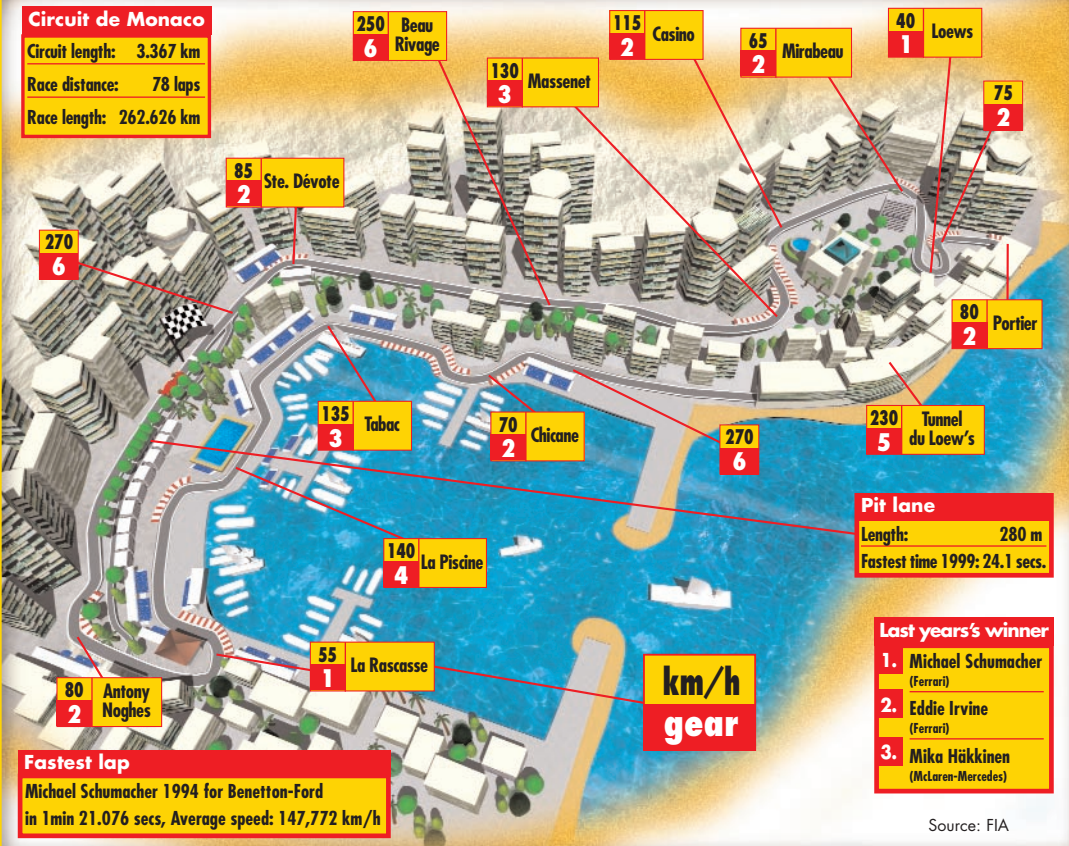

Monaco Grand Prix, 7th Race, 4th June 2000

Circuit de Monaco

Circuit length: 3.367 km

Race distance: 78 laps

Race length: 262.626 km

Source: FIA

Jean Todt
Ferrari Team
Manager

Monte Carlo is without doubt the most unusual and most individual of all the Formula One season's Grand Prix circuits. It is a driver's track, but if victory is to be secured, the racing-car must be perfectly adapted to its driver. For the Monte Carlo weekend we need the absolute maximum concentration, and the whole team will work hand-in-glove. With the leadership in both of the World Championship rankings under our belts, we can take our place on the starting-grid with great self-confidence and a strong team.